INTRODUCTION

This is the second publication of the "List of Construction Projects". As an expansion of the previous "List of Industrial Projects", the publication includes industrial as well as commercial, recreational, and institutional facility constructions and expansions. The "List of Construction Projects" is published semi-annually by the Department of Economic Development as part of its program to provide information on the level and direction of economic activity in Alberta.

While every effort has been made to ensure that the listing is as complete and accurate as possible, the Department of Economic Development does not accept responsibility for errors or omissions nor does it wish to convey the impression that the lists represent in any way an official or approved list of projects. Furthermore, as this publication is based on anticipated projections only, neither the persons who have prepared this study nor Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Alberta accept any responsibility for the consequences of reliance upon it.

METHODOLOGY

Data Collection

Most of the data for the list was obtained by telephone interviews, but those who had many projects and did not wish to give information over the telephone were sent questionnaires. Original sources of information were compiled from newspaper clippings, magazines such as "Oilweek" and "Canadian Petroleum", the previous investment projects list, provincial and municipal permit records and construction associations.

Project Classification

The following definitions were used as criteria for gathering the data:

Construction Projects

a) an expansion of already existing industrial or commercial facilities

b) the construction of new industrial or commercial plants and/or facilities.

Only commercial projects involving a capital expenditure of $500,000 or more were included in the list, and only the industrial projects involving a $100,000 capital expenditure or more were included. Only the design and construction costs were included in the figures for total capital cost.

Projects were classified as commercial or industrial by the following guideline:

*Commercial, Recreational and Institutional

Apartments - includes senior citizen residences
Row Housing
Office and renting space - includes professional buildings
Warehousing
Shopping Centres and retail outlets
Hotels, motels

* Referred to as "commercial" in the text

Recreational facilities - sports arenas, swimming pools, exhibition grounds, ice arenas, curling rinks, and museums
Parks
Education
Health
Government buildings and grounds (federal, provincial, municipal)
Other services - youth centres, centres for handicapped, convention centres, churches, libraries
Municipal engineering, water treatment, sewage treatment and pipes, firehalls
Storage and maintenance.

Industrial

Agricultural processing
Forestry
Other manufacturing
Mining
Petroleum and Petrochemicals
Utilities
Transportation
Distribution.

Status of the project was designated as proposed, under construction, or completed by the following guidelines:

1) Proposed - The project was publicly announced before January 1, 1979 but was not yet under construction. Projects under consideration are also included. Some of these projects may be competitive proposals by various companies or they may be delayed or cancelled due to unforeseen circumstances, thus not all projects are likely to go ahead.

2) Under construction - The project was either in the site preparation stage or on-site construction was underway by January 1, 1979.

3) Completed - The project was completed between June 30, 1978 and January 1, 1979 and is now in the operations phase.

It should be noted that census division 0 is used where the project location is unknown or extends over more than one census division. Primary examples in this case include pipelines and transmission lines.

Measurement of Jobs Created

It is important to note that the projection of the number of jobs expected to be created by projects in the commercial categories such as office buildings, warehouses and government buildings presents some difficulties. The number of permanent jobs created is primarily dependent on the new tenants of the building. As the company constructing the building is rarely the tenant of the building, they are not in the position to estimate new jobs housed in the project. Due to this measurement problem, job creation comparisons are generally not made throughout the report.

Confidential Information

Some of the project owners requested that their projects be kept confidential, or that portions of their reports be kept confidential. Utmost caution was used to ensure that this request was fulfilled.

The following procedures were used to ensure confidentiality:

Project Classification

Non-Confidential: no confidentiality restrictions

Some Confidential: cost figures or job figures to be kept confidential

All Confidential: those projects which owners wished to be kept totally confidential.

Treatment of Non-Confidential Information

These projects are listed in Part III (List of Non-Confidential Construction Projects) of the report and all figures are tabulated into the tables in Part II of the report. The notation "N/A" in this case indicates that some information was unknown or unavailable.

Treatment of Confidential Information

Some Confidential - These projects are listed in Part III, however cost and/or job figures which are to be kept confidential are indicated by N/A in the listing.

All figures are tabulated into the tables with the following exceptions:

1) Where there is only one project in a census division or project type and that project has confidential job or cost figures, those figures are excluded from the totals. These tabulations are marked with an asterisk (*).

2) Where there is only one project with confidential information among one or more other projects in the same census division or project type, the figures are excluded from the totals. These tabulations are marked with an asterisk (*).

All Confidential - These projects are not listed in Part III of the report nor are they tabulated in the "Number of Projects" Tables in Part II.

The cost and job figures are tabulated into the other tables with the following restrictions:

1) Where there is only one project in a census division or project type and it is to be kept totally confidential, the job and/or cost figures are excluded from the totals. These tabulations are marked with an asterisk (*).

2) Where there is only one totally confidential project among one or more other projects, in the same census division or project type, the figures are excluded from the totals. These tabulations are marked with an asterisk (*).

Tabulation of the Data

The mathematical calculation of each cell in the tables is as follows:

T = Non-Confidential + [(Some Confidential) - (Some Confidential: Conditions 1 and/or 2)]

+ [(All Confidential) - (All Confidential: Conditions 1 and/or 2)]

where:

Non-Confidential	=	those projects in the listing with no confidential restrictions
Some Confidential	=	those projects in the listing with either cost or job figures to be kept confidential
Some Confidential: Conditions 1 and/or 2	=	those projects in the listing with either cost or job figures to be kept confidential but which meet either conditions 1 or 2 as above
All Confidential	=	those projects to be kept totally confidential
All Confidential: Conditions 1 and/or 2	=	those projects to be kept totally confidential but which meet the above conditions of 1 and/or 2.

NOTE: The method of tabulation used in the previous six month review did not include figures from the projects which were classified as "all confidential". Therefore, some of the increases shown to have occurred since the last review can be attributed to the inclusion of the confidential data in the tabulations for this review. Caution should be exercised in all comparisons of the two reviews.

HIGHLIGHTS

The list of construction projects includes both commercial and industrial projects in Alberta during the period July 1, 1978 to December 31, 1979 inclusive. Of the 1,006 projects listed, 311 projects were proposed during this time, 463 were under construction and 232 came to completion. The total capital cost will be $22.5 billion and the total number of new jobs to be created will be 21,351.

In comparison to the previous six month review, the number of commercial projects (727) has increased slightly (10%) while the number of industrial projects has decreased by 18% from 339 to 279.

The total expected creation of new jobs has increased slightly from 17,142 to 21,351*. A large portion of this increase is in the number of new jobs created by commercial projects (from 6,159 to 8,731).

There is a slight drop (3%) in total capital cost for industrial projects ($19.4 billion last review to $18.6 billion this review). However, there is a much larger increase in the commercial sector ($2.4 billion to $3.6 billion). This is consistent with the decrease and increase in the number of projects in each sector.

In general, there seems to be a slight slow down of construction activity compared to the first six months of 1978. Although the total capital cost for proposed projects has increased, the actual number of projects proposed has decreased, particularly in the industrial sector (34% proportional decrease). There has been only a slight increase in the number of projects under construction and since the proposed projects have decreased this may be an indicator for decreased projects under construction in the next six or eight months time.

* It should be noted that an increased effort to survey the number of new jobs created may account for some of the increase shown here.

PROPOSED PROJECTS

Since the last six-month review, the total number of planned construction projects has decreased 22% from 400 to 311 projects. The decrease was largest in the industrial sector where the number of projects declined by 34% (94 projects this survey compared to 143 last survey). It is interesting to note the distributional changes for the individual categories in the industrial sector. For example, the proportion of petroleum and petrochemical projects to total number of projects has increased by 7.26%, from 36.36% in the first half of 1978 to 43.62% in the latter half while the proportion of planned utilities projects has decreased by 13.38% from 31.47% to 18.09%.

In the commercial sector there is a total decrease of 18% (217 from 256). Proportionately, the number of planned apartment projects (26) to the total number of commercial projects has decreased by 8.25% (11.98% from 20.23%). The proportion of municipal projects (20.74%) has increased by 9.07% and the proportion of office projects has increased by 4.24%.

The majority of proposed commercial activity is to be located in census divisions 6 and 11 with 94 and 36 projects respectively. Activities in census divisions 11 and 15 will dominate the industrial sector with 20 and 13 projects, respectively.

The total number of new jobs expected to be created (9,211) by proposed projects has increased for both industrial and commercial projects, however, the proportional increase is greater in the commercial sector.

Of the 2,060 new jobs expected to be created in the commercial sector, 1,265 (61%) will be created by hotel and motel projects. This presents a 35% proportional increase but a distortion was caused by one large project; it is not a true reflection of the activity in this category. Other distributional changes include a 17% to 37% decrease in the proportion of new jobs created by shopping or retail projects, as well as a 5.64% increase in the proportion of new jobs created by warehouse projects.

PROPOSED PROJECTS (cont'd)

The majority of the new jobs to be created by industrial activities will be created by petroleum and petrochemical projects (5,681 or 79% of the 7,191 jobs to be created in this sector).

The highest number of jobs expected to be created will be in census divisions 6 and 12 with 2,390 and 4,640 respectively.

There is very little distributional change in the industrial sector with the maximum change being petroleum projects (12.58% increase in the proportion of new jobs to be created since the last review). The projected capital cost for planned projects is $15.6 billion ($14.2 billion for industrial projects and $1.4 billion for commercial projects). The proportion of total capital cost has increased in the commercial sector and decreased in the industrial sector by 2%.

Consistent with the number of projects and the number of new jobs created in the industrial sector, total capital cost is highest for petroleum and petrochemical activities ($12.6 billion or 89% of the total cost for the industrial sector). This amount represents a 4.9% increase in the proportion of total capital cost.

PROJECTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

In the latter half of 1978, 464 projects were under construction. Twenty-two percent (or 104) of the projects were in the industrial sector and 78% were in the commercial sector. The total number of projects under construction has increased slightly (6%) since the last survey. While the number of industrial projects dropped from 123 to 104, the number of commercial projects under construction increased by 11% from 313 to 360.

Job creation in the industrial sector was highest in the petroleum and petrochemical projects (4,207 new jobs) however, the proportion of new jobs created by this activity to the total number of new jobs created has actually decreased from 91.2% last period to 85.8% this period. Manufacturing projects will create 451 new jobs, a 4% proportional increase since the last survey.

In census division twelve, 3,580 new jobs are expected to be created. This is 34% of the total number of new jobs to be created, however, it is a 9% proportional decrease since the last review. Ninety-nine percent of the jobs in this division will be created by petroleum and petrochemical projects. In census division 11, 658 new jobs are expected to be created by industrial projects (193 by manufacturing projects and 337 by petroleum projects).

In the commercial sector, 5,496 new jobs are expected to be created. Health related projects (2,042) and shopping centre/retail projects (1,197) account for 59% of the new jobs expected to be created. However, the proportion of new jobs to be created by health related projects has actually decreased by 10% since the last survey while the proportion of new jobs to be created by office projects has increased from 2.7% to 13.56% for a total of 745 new jobs. Other distributional changes include an 11.25% decrease in the proportion of new jobs to be created by warehouses; a 6% increase in the proportion created by education related projects and a 5% increase in the proportion to be created by hotels and motels.

PROJECTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION (cont'd)

Most of the new jobs expected to be created by commercial projects under construction are located in census divisions 6 (1,840) and 11 (1,937). This is consistent with the high number of projects in each division.

Projects under construction have a total capital cost of $6 billion. Of this total, commercial activity constitutes only 30% ($1.8 billion), industrial projects comprise 70% ($6.1 billion). This is disproportionate to the number of projects in each sector since 78% of the total number of projects are in the commercial sector and 22% are in the industrial sector. The main contributor to this inconsistency is petroleum and petrochemical projects - with a total capital cost of $3.3 billion (54% of the total cost) for only 9% of the total number of projects under construction.

In the commercial sector, total capital cost is highest for office/rental projects ($.5 billion or 29% of the total capital of commercial projects). Census divisions 6 and 11 are the major areas of activity with 115 and 78 projects respectively. The total capital cost in these divisions is proportionate to the number of projects with $1 billion (56%) in division 6 and $.4 billion (27%) in division 11.

Industrial projects under construction in census divisions 6 and 11 comprise nearly half (42%) of the total number of industrial projects, however, the total capital cost in these two divisions is less than one-quarter of the total cost for industrial projects. In census division 12, 7% of the projects total 53% of the capital cost of all industrial projects under construction.

PROJECTS COMPLETED

In the six months ending January 1, 1979, 231 projects were completed. This is an increase of 46% since the last survey - a possible reflection of the increased number of projects under construction in the first half of 1978. The distribution of completed projects in the latter half of 1978 is roughly comparable to the distribution of projects under construction in the first half of the year. However, 4% to 9% differences exist for manufacturing, petroleum, apartments, offices, shopping, government and storage projects.

The greatest number of completed industrial projects is in census divisions 11 (27 projects or 33.3% of the total completed) and division 6 (10 projects or 12.3% of the total completed). These figures are both comparable to the distribution of projects under construction in the first half of 1978 (16% in census district 6 and 31.7% in census district 11).

Projects completed in this survey period are expected to create 1,738 new permanent jobs. Industrial projects will create 563 or 32% of these jobs, and 1,175 or 68% will be created by commercial projects.

The number of new permanent jobs created in the commercial sector is highest for shopping and retail projects (545) although the proportion of new jobs created by completed shopping and retail projects is 22% lower since the last survey. Other distributional changes can be seen in the proportion of new jobs created by warehouse projects (a 19.83% decrease) and municipal projects (a 5.59% increase).

Sixty-six percent of the new jobs created by completed industrial projects will be created by manufacturing projects (372). While the proportion of jobs created by completed manufacturing projects has increased by 30% the proportion of jobs created by petroleum projects has decreased by 29% since the last survey.

PROJECTS COMPLETED (cont'd)

The total capital cost of projects completed by January 1, 1979 was $776 million - a 34% increase since the last survey which is consistent with the increase in the number of completed projects. Industrial projects comprised 57% of the total capital cost ($442 million) compared to 43% or $334 million for commercial projects.

TOTAL ACTIVITY IN ALBERTA

In many of the proposed projects, a disclosure of total capital costs as well as other details is not possible due to the sensitive nature of the information. The exclusion of this data and the desired confidentiality of some data make comparisons difficult and it should be stressed again that one must exercise caution when interpreting the results.

A compilation of statistics for both confidential and non-confidential data is included here to give some indication of the total activity in the province.
